

Lincoln Highway Garage to Open October 9

Valparaiso's Lincoln Highway Garage, located at the intersection of Lincolnway and Morgan Boulevard, will open for public parking on October 9. "We're really looking forward to the opening of the Lincoln Highway Garage. This new parking facility will support Valparaiso's downtown as well as the new multi-use housing development, The Linc. Expanded housing and parking options have been a part of the City of Valparaiso's downtown plan for some time, adding even more vitality to our award-winning downtown," said Mayor Jon Costas.

The new Lincoln Highway Garage offers a total of 360 parking spots, including 152 public spaces, six EV charging spots and seven accessible parking spots plus 66 shared spots available to the public from 8:00 am to 5:00 pm. Like most other City of Valparaiso public parking, parking at the Lincoln Highway Garage will be free for the first three hours. You may purchase a permit (available at City Hall) for free all-day parking. Overnight parking (considered 2:00 am to 6:00 am) is prohibited in the Lincoln Highway Garage, unless you are a resident of The Linc and have a Linc Resident permit.

Finishing touches will continue to happen at the garage over the coming days. The upper floors will be restricted from vehicle access as these levels will be reserved for The Linc residents. An opening event will follow. To learn more about parking at the Lincoln Highway Garage, visit tinyurl.com/LHG-Valpo.
